Student Behaviour and Disciplinary Policy

Revision date	September 2023
Circulation
Approval Signature	F. Savelli

This policy will be reviewed annually unless an incident; new legislation or guidance suggests the need for an interim review

Rationale

We are committed to activate learning in a safe and productive environment where all members are expected to demonstrate a positive attitude to their learning, to behave with respect to themselves, to others and to their environment. We have a very clear set of non-negotiable standards of personal behaviour which promote good behaviour, self-discipline, respect, prevent bullying, on-time task completion and to regulate conduct.

In our school, staff and students have the right to work in a safe, orderly and supportive environment, which is free from distraction and where they feel respected and valued. We trust a calm and disciplined learning environment based on mutual respect and positive relationships is the best place in which student progress can be achieved.

Aim

- To create an appropriate and safe educational environment where alternative initiatives are in place based on crises and natural disasters.
- To ensure an inclusive educational environment to achieve success by applying the culture of reinforcement, encouragement, and permanent care to the community to reduce behavioural offences
- To promote student and parent awareness of their obligations to maintain self-control and good behaviour
- To ensure implementation of well-defined mechanisms to tackle student behaviour deviations and protect school values and systems through changing and emerging conditions.
- To promote positive behaviour and practice healthy relationships to inculcate self and public responsibility among students within the school community.

We trust,

- all our students can choose acceptable behaviour
- students can build positive achievement within a structured framework of behaviour management
- we can recognise behavioural norms and promote them in a positive way
- we can provide a consistent and clear view of what we mean by good behaviour
- we can teach appropriate behaviour through positive interventions
- we can ensure that this is based on the promotion of self-esteem and self-discipline

School management: The school management is responsible for ensuring that a reasonable and effective Code of Behaviour and Discipline exists where rules, procedures, ways to promote positive behaviour, affirming student efforts, rewards and consequences, and its implementation procedures are developed with the participation of all the stakeholders.

Our staff, students and parents are expected to

Feedback

We believe that consistent feedback plays a critical role in shaping all results whether given for academic achievement or behaviour management. Our feedback is specific to help students understand the effectiveness and impact of their choices, which enable our students to learn from mistakes, enjoy their effort, and to become lifelong learners.

Accountability

Students are expected to take accountability for the impact of their choices. Through positive and representative conferencing, students will be given the opportunity to reflect on the impact and find ways to restore relationships.

Reinforcing Desirable Conduct

Situations that may require reinforcement:

- Distinguished excellence in skills which promote positive, safe, caring, healthy relationships, and mutual respect or the skills holding together the school ethos and values in developing excellent citizens.
- Excellent progress after retardation or failure, regularity in doing school homework, handling school facilities and maintaining the same.
- Outstanding attendance and punctuality
- Positive and active involvement in school activities and contests.
- Distinguished excellence in adherence to the society's values, customs and traditions
- High level of performance and motivation for learning, appreciation for education, and modelling best behaviour.
- Having and practicing leadership and cooperation skills, and shouldering responsibility and ownership.
- Participation in executing projects and programmes which have a positive impact on the school and local communities.
- Any student's adoption of positive conduct after rectifying undesirable behaviour.

Desirable conduct reinforcement methods may include:

The desirable conduct of the student is reinforced using varied methods including:

- Commendation/written appreciation through e-learning platforms/classroom board/special assemblies/social media or everything published by the school.
- Stickers, badges or stamps

Classroom Management and Curricular Provision

- The maintenance of positive behaviour within the school is the responsibility of all staff. Individual staff have particular responsibilities e.g. within their own classroom or when on duty supervising entry and exit duties.
- Staff endeavour to model desirable behaviour and attitudes and avoid negative sequences of behaviour.
- Every opportunity is taken to support self-discipline, whereby students are personally involved and accept responsibility for their own actions and behaviours.
- Teaching methods, lesson content and other curriculum linked activities encourage active participation and support the school aims to develop the skills, knowledge and understanding which will enable the students to work and play in co-operation with others in a respectful way.
- Students have age appropriate responsibilities assigned with peers or staff to create a collaborative ethos and promote well-being and shared stewardship of the school.
- Praise is used to encourage good behaviour as well as good work and constructive criticism should be a private matter between a staff member and student where possible.
- Teachers under guidance and support manage particular need/s of the students
- All staff and students are familiar with the school Code of Conduct.

Desirable conduct reinforcement controls:

- Reinforcement should match in type and degree
- Reinforcement opportunities should be fairly available for everybody.
- Reinforcement strategies shouldn't turn to frustrate those who don't receive any.
- Reinforcement should be directed to the response of the student and not to his personality.
- Reinforcement methods should vary between moral and material (certificates/points/etc...)
- Avoid exaggeration in using means of reinforcement.
- Reinforcement should immediately follow occurrence of the desirable conduct.

Rectifying Undesirable Conduct

Our Code of Conduct clarifies particular actions that are not permitted and that will trigger disciplinary action. Disciplinary action is commensurate to the level and frequency of the breach of the Code of Conduct and is carried out in a staged, transparent and fair manner, with involvement of parents, teachers, and specialists as relevant. We take a restorative approach to dealing with behaviour issues. We emphasise on developing positive behaviour, so disciplinary interventions encourage students to improve their conduct and develop positive behaviour patterns. However, where there is insufficient change in behaviour, or if the misconduct is very serious, disciplinary action is likely to lead to limited or permanent exclusion.

In the event that a student of determination commits a behavioural offence during distance/physical learning, the designated authority and the school support team will coordinate with each other and with the Inclusive education support dept. if required; to determine the relationship between the offence and the student of determination, and then apply the measures

Situations requiring intervention to rectify the undesirable conduct:

Any situation where the student is breaking the school's behaviour and disciplinary protocols, require to be corrected with rectifying mechanisms.

Undesirable conduct rectifying controls

When enforcing the measures of undesirable conduct rectification, the following should be taken into account:

- Verification of the occurrence of the conduct.
- Applying the rules with the aim of guiding and rectifying the conduct, rather than demonstrating anger and revenge.
- Dealing with the student on the basis of respect for his/ her character and feelings, and prioritising the reinforcement strategies over the rectifying measures.
- Taking into account the circumstances in which the fault occurred and the frequency of its occurrence.
- Fairness, equality and confidentiality in treating students.
- The enforced procedure should be suitable to age and all ability groups
- The enforced procedure should be suitable to the nature of the conduct, and the severity and frequency of the undesirable conduct
- Avoiding cruelty, psychological abuse, vilification, insult, mocking, sarcasm, or humiliation.
- Focusing on the student's conduct rather than the student's personality.
- Not enforcing measures on all classroom students or a group because of a fault committed by one of the students.
- The procedures should be immediate and suitable to the level and nature of the conduct.
- Not applying any penalty to the student without considering the school's responsibilities for required procedures
- Considering the student's problems from the social, educational, psychological and financial perspectives prior to enforcing the measures.

We are prohibited from taking certain actions against students, which include the following:

- Corporal punishment of all types and forms
- Preventing the student from having his/her food
- Provoking or mocking the student
- Preventing the student from going to the toilet
- Restricting student freedom or holding him/her in the school
- Threatening to reduce the scores of school subjects
